

ABSTRACT

1 A cellular phone holding set includes a first part pivotally connected
2 to a second part which is pivotally connected to a base. A speaker is received 3 in an inner periphery of the first part and a holding device is connected to the 4 first part. The holding device is located between the first part and the second 5 part so as to hold a cellular phone. The first part is connected to the second 6 part to form a sphere ball or other shapes when no cellular phone is clamped on 7 the holding set.